Biofeedback Treatment of Anxiety Associated with Chronic Spinal Cord Injury

Craig Hospital is currently recruiting participants with SCI for a research study to test an intervention designed to treat stress and anxiety.

Do you or someone you know have:

- A diagnosis of tetraplegia and experience residual sensory or motor impairments?
- The desire to reduce stress and anxiety?
- Availability to complete a self-administered intervention twice a week for 4 weeks at home?

If so, please call or email the Craig Research Department to learn more about the study and to see if you meet the eligibility requirements.
